FOOD FOR BULBS

Tulips, Daffodils, Hyacinths, and other bulbs require an abundance of plant food. Nitrogen in this fertilizer induces vigorous growth, increases the number of flowers, and better blooms and the potash makes for a good root system.

Lily-Flowered Tulips

Lily-flowered tulips bloom at the same time as Darwin tulips. They are more like lilies in their habit of growing and for arrangements. They are most effective when planted in groups in the garden. The most popular variety is the White Triumphator, the best of this group.

A detailed oil painting of a flowering branch, possibly a lily. The composition features several large, trumpet-shaped flowers in shades of white and pale pink, with prominent yellow centers. The flowers are set against a dense background of dark green, textured foliage. The brushwork is visible, particularly in the petals and leaves, giving the painting a sense of movement and depth. The overall color palette is dominated by the greens of the leaves and the soft pinks and whites of the blossoms.
